

The Iranian solidarity movement for culture and human rights

He is here now. His name is Aria.
He has run away from the hell of Islamic Republic, his blood is shed with impunity. He is young but he doesn't obey the middle age laws of Islamic Republic.

In that sorrowful sunset his young pride and sentiments were smashed. It was his full of slits body that showed the meanness and inability of Islamic Republic criminals, to the judgment of world freedom lovers.

What was his accusation?
Nothing but protest against September 11 event and sympathizing with the people of America.

Bakhtiari who whipped him, after eighty blows, when he saw he was still alive said: "You are strong. Nobody goes back home after my torture."

He did not go back home but with a wounded body, bloody corps and broken heart, left Fatherland for an unknown destiny, to be a live witness of thousands of young people who are every day whipped and hanged based on unfounded accuses.

The leaders of all countries who undergo shameful contracts with Islamic Republic, must know, the nation of Iran and young people like Aria will one day celebrate the brilliant sun of freedom in our country. On that day they will not forget the governments and nations who helped us.

We expect all human-right-institutions in the world to help us.

Mahin Arjomand
02.05.2002

This Manifesto is sent to all Human-Rights-institutions, political parties and freedom lovers